DETAILED ACTION

This Office Action is in response to the amendment filed December 15, 2009 for the above identified patent application.

1. The indicated allowability of original claims 5 and 6 are withdrawn in view of the newly discovered reference(s) to Noda (JP 08-121411). Rejections based on the newly cited reference(s) follow.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 5-7 and 12-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yuasa et al. (USP 5,634,722) in view of Noda (JP 08-121411).

Yuasa et al. discloses a guide apparatus having a track rail (1), on which rolling-element raceway surfaces are formed along a longitudinal direction thereof, and a moving block (2) attached to the track rail by way of a plurality of rolling elements in a relatively-movable manner, the moving block having load rolling-element raceway surfaces forming load rolling-element raceway passages in conjunction with the rolling-element raceway surfaces, a moving block main body in which rolling-element clearance holes corresponding to the load rolling-element raceway surfaces are formed, and side covers (5) attached to each end of the moving block main body with respect to the direction of relative movement, wherein the side cover include a sealing device.

The prior art to Yuasa et al. does not disclose the sealing device configures as a dustproof brush. The prior art to Noda teaches a linear guide device having an end-face dustproof brush (23,24), an accessory seal member (16,21,22), wherein the brush member having a tip end that contacts a surface of the track rail and which eliminates extraneous matters adhering to the surface of the track rail by means of the brush member, the brush member being attached to side covers with respect to the direction of relative movement. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to replace the sealing device of Yuasa et al. with a dustproof brush, as taught by Noda, motivation being to prevent a predetermined size and amount of dust from entering the moving block.

With respect to claims 13 and 15, Noda appears to illustrate the brush member being formed with a first split brush portion, a second split brush portion, and a third split brush portion. However, forming the brush member as three split brush portions would have been within the skill of one in the art, motivation being to facilitate in the manufacture, assembly and/or the maintenance of the brush member.

Allowable Subject Matter
